Founder Thoughts

Ancient Cities or architectures are historic and constitute the splendors of the past. The past is the time, gone by, and its period represents a definite portion of time fixed by events occurring in nature or man-made in history, which follows one after another. All phenomena have no point of beginning that can be clearly seen. There is rotation- each following the other in regular order in a cycle. The effect today follows the cause of yesterday. Therefore, man must know the events of the past.

Nowadays, everything seems to become narrower and narrower. A tiny thing which occurs in one small corner of the world, may be able to stir all over the globe. Thus, I am perturbed by the anxiety that the changing of the modern society, due to pressure of material things coupled with the present East and West cultures facing each other in a violent manner, might become still more serious.

I strongly believe that the morality of the world population is deteriorating. And at the same time I cannot deny the advancement of science that is so valuable to mankind, incomparable in any era. We Asians believe that the scientific approach can bring knowledge to human beings. But it cannot elevate the spirit of man. It has only paved the way for materialists in their search for worldly happiness.

Under the circumstances, I would like to draw the attention of the world population to come to witness our art, customs and culture. I am certain that in one day or another they will benefit the noble spirit and will be a good reminder to those who are drawn to materialism. Thus the "Ancient City" has been created

What will be the result?

I leave it to Heaven to ordain.
